

Dr. Wayne Bond, a full professor and Chairperson of the Department of Communication Studies at Montclair State University, has been active in the Speech and Theatre Association of NJ as its President, Newsletter Editor, Teacher's Conference Coordinator, on numerous committees and has been one its Executive Board and a members for over twenty seven years. Dr. Bond has a Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University; is co-author of college text books, is Past President of the International Listening Association, was Inducted into that organization's Hall of Fame, was President and Executive Directory of the East Central Theatre Conference; received the NJ Governor's Award for Outstanding College Teacher in the Arts, and the NJ Governor's Award for Outstanding Service in the Arts, the Montclair State Alumni Outstanding Faculty Award, and has been a speaker and presenter for International, National, and Regional conferences, conventions, and seminars on subjects of Listening, Public Speaking, Interpersonal Communication, and Teaching Strategies. Dr. Bond has worked with Presentation and Listening training for employees of companies such as American Express, Smith Barney and Prudential. He has also worked as a volunteer trainer with the Hospice, Inc. of Milburn, NJ for over twenty years and is a frequent presenter at the NJEA Convention; at the 2002 convention, Dr. Bond addressed an audience of 200 on the topic, "Many Hear Few Listen: Listening Strategies for the Classroom." Dr. Bond will present at the 2003 International Listening Convention in Stockholm, Sweden in July on the topic "The Gift of Empathic Listening." He is a resident of Bloomfield, NJ and receives his third Governor's Award in May 2003.

BA degree from Alderson Broaddus College, Phillipi, West Virginia
MA degree from West Virginia University, Morgantown, West Virginia
Ph.D. degree from Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Illinois